

Did you protest at Horsmonden on September 10th 2000?

Lawyers instructed by the National Romani Rights Association are planning to take Kent Police to the European Court of Human Rights for their racist and heavy handed policing of the protest against the banning of Horsmonden Fair.

If you were at the protest, or stopped from getting to it, it is extremely important that you make a statement about how you were treated. Did you feel intimidated by the police? Did they subject you to racist abuse? Did they search you or try to provoke you? Written statements are needed from people who were there on the day to be used as evidence in court.

Send written statements to:
